

Current Cognitive Science Research 1

Single subject and programme course

5 credits

Aktuell kognitionsvetenskaplig forskning 1

729A69

Valid from:

Determined by

The Quality Board at the Faculty of Arts and Sciences

Date determined

2010-12-17

Main field of study

Cognitive Science

Course level

Second cycle

Advancement level

A1X

Course offered for

- Master Programme in Cognitive Science

Entry requirements

For admission to the course, the entry requirements for admission to the Master's Programme in Cognitive Science apply

Intended learning outcomes

On completion of the course, the student should be able to

- account for current cognitive science research issues and results
- apply research methods in current cognitive science research
- account for current research results in cognitive science
- account for the implications that cognitive science research results has on the development of technical systems and technical artefacts.

Course content

Current Cognitive Science Research.

Teaching and working methods

Seminars and self-study

Examination

Presentation of the contents of the seminars may be in writing or practical in the form of computer modelling, development of technical artefacts or repetition of experiments, and discussion of their relevance for the student's own area of specialisation, primarily the student's master's thesis work. Detailed information can be found in the study guide.

Students failing an exam covering either the entire course or part of the course twice are entitled to have a new examiner appointed for the reexamination.

Students who have passed an examination may not retake it in order to improve their grades.

Grades

Three-grade scale, U, G, VG

Other information

Planning and implementation of a course must take its starting point in the wording of the syllabus. The course evaluation included in each course must therefore take up the question how well the course agrees with the syllabus.

The course is carried out in such a way that both men's and women's experience and knowledge is made visible and developed.

Department

Institutionen för datavetenskap